

Study of Disaster Prevention and Relief of strain as the military upgrade

Po-Chieh Hsu

Department of Joint Defense Operation, ROC Military Academy

Abstract

September 21 earthquake and Typhoon Morakot, causing loss of life and property of people and numerous families fragmented view of this, the Republic of China formally promulgated on July 89, "Disaster Prevention and Relief Act," our response to major disasters, improve disaster prevention rescue system, strengthen disaster prevention and Relief function, the beginning of the disaster prevention law legislation with reference to the US-Japan national bill previous experience domestic purposes "disaster prevention and Relief program", the leadership of our country in a legal disaster prevention and Relief work, the distinction between mitigation, preparedness, response and recovery phases, to establish the relevant system and the system, disaster Prevention and relief Act amended the original troops in passive mode change to active disaster response mechanisms, we can see the system extremely difficult to establish the importance of disaster Prevention and relief mechanism proved, and subject to repeated history of View and verification, can the system more perfect, especially again strain relief mechanism deemed mission critical stage, the military's role in this and positioning, whether it can meet the requirements of disaster Prevention and relief Act? must invest each from Guojun disaster Prevention and Relief term strain as the analysis of the current situation and review the deficiencies and inadequacies for policy formulation as feed, strengthen the government's disaster Prevention and Relief mechanism to upgrade the military disaster Prevention and Relief strain as.

So, to sum up, this study focuses on several issues, Disaster Prevention and Relief mechanism in the response phase, the military's role and positioning; military disaster response mechanisms Prevention and Relief, and analyze the relationship between troops into combat readiness and training of speech how to make full use of the military mobilization of energy, as well as disaster prevention and rescue equipment and other professional functions and problems; Enhancement Act policy and system, build disaster relief equipment and sophisticated professional training

Key words : ROC Military Academy Journal, paper, Disaster Prevention and Relief, Response mechanism